New Catalog Features Entertainment Industry AC Wiring Devices

A new 18-page full-color catalog featuring a complete line of AC wiring devices for theatrical, staging, television studio, movie production and other entertainment applications is now available from the Marinco® Entertainment Group.

Product brands featured in the catalog include the Bates®, Group 5®, Advanced Devices Cam Technology™ and Marinco brands. Marinco acquired Advanced Devices, Inc. in 2004 to join the company's existing lines of specialty wiring devices and expand the company's offering of devices for entertainment applications.

Products included in the catalog range from 400-amp Cam Technology devices to Stage Pin devices to NEMA all-black devices. The catalog includes inline plugs and connectors, receptacles and panel mounts, adapters, protective covers and tooling and accessories.

Marinco Entertainment Group devices are designed specifically for the unique requirements of entertainment applications, including high-amperage connections and the need for fast and safe connection and disconnection and will mate with comparable products from other manufacturers.

Building on more than 30 years of application-engineering experience, Marinco focuses on manufacturing and marketing specialty wiring devices for harsh-environment applications providing product designers and users with fast-assembly, long-life electrical connections. All Marinco products are backed by a five-year warranty with a toll-free application-engineering hotline.

For a free copy of the catalog contact your local entertainment industry electrical devices distributor, your electrical products sales rep or call Marinco direct at 1-800- 800-767-8541.
